Electronic Verification

Under the AML/CTF Act we can disclose your name, residential address and date of birth to a credit reporting agency. The purpose of this disclosure is to request the credit reporting agency to make an assessment on whether the personal information so disclosed matches (in whole or part) the personal information contained in a credit reporting file or other data base in possession of the credit reporting agency. This electronic verification process assists us in verifying your identity.

The credit reporting agency we engage may prepare and provide us with such an assessment by using the personal information about you and the names, residential address and dates of birth contained in credit information files of other individuals. We will only use the assessment by the reporting entity for the purpose of verifying your identity for the purposes of the AML/CTF Act.
